Calculating the average number of employees in full-time equivalents – to find the full-time equivalent of the average number of employees, the hours worked by part time employees are converted to full-time employment, which is then added to the number of full time employees.

An example on reducing the number of employees:

The standard working time in the enterprise is 8 hours a day.

Find the average number of employees in the enterprise in full-time equivalents in one month, provided that:

on 1–15 January, the employer employed 27 full time employees;

on 16–31 January, the employer employed 48 full time employees;

on 1–31 January, the employer employed 1 part time employee with 6 working hours a day – with work load of 0.75;

on 1–15 January, the employer employed 1 part time employee with 4 working hours a day – with work load of 0.50;

on 1–31 January, the employer employed 1 part time employee with 2 working hours a day – with work load of 0.25.

The monthly average number of full time employees is $$(15 \times 27 + 16 \times 48) / 31 = 37.8$$

Monthly average number of part time employees is $$(0.75 \times 31 + 0.5 \times 15 + 0.25 \times 31) / 31 = 1.2$$

The average number of employees in full-time equivalents in January is

$$37.8 + 1.2 = 39.0$$

The average number of employees in full-time equivalents for each month is calculated similarly to the given example. To find the annual average number of employees, add up the monthly average numbers of employees and divide it by 12.

DATA COLLECTED WITH THE QUESTIONNAIRE

Table 1. AFFILIATION TO A GROUP (as at previous year)

The questionnaire is prefilled with annual report data submitted to the Commercial Register. Prefilling is usually based only on such annual report data that cover a calendar year. The only consolidated annual report data used are the parent enterprise’s income statement and balance sheet data, or unconsolidated data, which are provided in annexes. Unfortunately, not all data can be found in the annual report. Therefore, please fill in the missing data, check the prefilled fields and correct where necessary. Only the elements listed in the annual report taxonomy regulation can be used for prefiling. The elements with the name entered by the respondent, are not electronically processable and cannot be used for prefiling. Annual reports submitted in PDF format are not taxonomy based reports and are not used for prefiling because these data are not available in electronic format.
